The key to success for any organization is to hire, develop, and empower good people. The Center for Leadership and Innovation (CLI) at The University of Vermont is dedicated to helping companies and individuals achieve their personal and professional goals. We offer a blended framework of academics and consulting to achieve the highest level of professional development. Our trainings teach participants how to apply what they learn in the workplace.

CLI WILL

- Provide in-depth professional education and training across business sectors
- Develop high-potential individuals
- Groom employees for future leadership roles
- Develop succession planning for emerging leaders
- Prepare leaders for future business challenges to move ahead of the competition

ADVANTAGES OF A PARTNERSHIP WITH CLI

- Customization - we can work with you to create a seminar, workshop, program, or certificate that meets your organization’s specific needs, or tailor an existing program to help maximize your investment.
- Cost-effectiveness - our programs provide excellent value at a reasonable cost, using economies of scale for larger groups.
- Convenience and flexibility - courses and programs can be held at your location, at UVM, or an alternative space. Schedules can include full or half days, weekdays or evenings.
- Expert faculty and instructors - UVM instructors are highly-qualified experts in their fields who know how to engage adult learners and help them develop and apply valuable skills.
- Practical applications - in all programs, we focus on linking classroom theory with best practices for immediate implementation in the workplace.
- Focus on results - CLI training focuses on practical application. We evaluate and measure results with our clients for learning outcomes.
- We are able to leverage all of the unique resources and faculty expertise of The University of Vermont, and can deliver any of our management development seminars directly to your organization.

“The real strengths of this training included the instructor’s knowledge, and the content—which used specific examples, related to “our company”, the instructor was organized, extremely knowledgeable and kept my interest using real work projects. Of all the trainings we’ve done here, I hate to be done with this one the most."
